1. On 24 April 1951, it was ascertained that the boundaries of the Briesen airfield, presently under construction, were as follows: The west side of the field ran parallel to the Brandenburg-Briesen railroad line about 1 km east of it; the south side ran parallel to the road to Krausnick as far as triangulation point 72; the eastern boundary extended from this point north to a point in line with triangulation point 75; the north side of the field ran parallel to the Brand-Krausnick road. * The field was guarded by civilians with watchdogs.

2. According to a worker about 400 meters of a spur track to the field was completed, but would be continued. The spur track was located about 15 meters north of Brand-Krausnick road. **
